OUT WENT THE LIGHTS ON ESOPUS HALF OF RONDOUT CREEK BRIDGE

Lighting Company's Patience Exhausted After Esopus Authorities Again Refused to Pay for Current—Approach to the Bridge is to be Lighted at Cost of Esopus Taxpayers.

Esopus authorities have decided to pay for having the approach to the Rondout Creek Bridge lighted and have directed the Kingston Gas and Electric Company to install the necessary poles and lamps. At the same time they failed again to provide for lighting the Esopus half of the bridge, the vote on this question being a tie. So the lights on half of the bridge went out Monday night and will remain out until provision is made for paying for lighting them.

When the bridge was opened the Kingston Gas and Electric Company, although the Esopus authorities had failed to make any provision for lighting their half of the bridge, installed lights and has maintained them ever since at its own expense, hoping that those whose duty it is to pay would come to their senses. That hope has not been realized and after exercising a degree of patience and public spirit not often found in a "Southerner" the lighting company has decided that in this case patience is no longer a virtue.

The city of Kingston, of course, cannot lawfully spend the money of its taxpayers in lighting roads outside the city limits. The people whose half of the bridge is now unlighted will not spend $270 a year for lighting a bridge built for their use by the state at a cost of more than half a million of dollars. The lighting company is tired of extending charity to them.

So half of the bridge is in darkness, a striking advertisement of the lack of public spirit and common sense of those responsible.

CIGARS, MULLEN'S, CORNCOB PIPES

Kingston Lodge of Elks Will Return to First Principles at Smoker and Entertainment This Evening.

Kingston Lodge, No. 550, B. P. O. Elks, will hold a smoker, a social "boxer" and an "eater" at the Elks' club house on Fair street this evening for the benefit of members and their friends.

Several boxing bouts will be put on which promises plenty of entertainment. Vince Coffey will go on with Bill Roedel; Joe Coffey and Featherstone will pit their well-padded fists against each other, and Kid Carter and Egan will match their strength and skill. It is possible that other bouts also may be arranged before the smoker opens at eight o'clock.

Other entertainment features also have been planned by the committee having tonight's smoker in charge, all of which will be pleasing.

Refreshments will be served during the evening which as usual with affairs of any kind at the Elks' club house will be appetizing and abundant.

In the line of smokes, the Elks will return once more to first principles and the simple life, and this form of nourishment will consist of cigars, Mullen's and a corn cob pipe for each member and friend who attends.

CIRCUS COMING ON JULY 11

The bill posters are here. The red and gold wagons are coming.

The No. 2 advertising car of the Sparks Big Three-Ring Circus arrived in this city this morning with twenty-two bill posters, lithographs and advertising men aboard. The big show will be in Kingston Tuesday, July 11, for two performances. The Sparks Circus bears the distinction of being one of the oldest, largest and best on the road and this season takes the road with an entirely new equipment, consisting of the all steel trains, made up of seventy foot cars; new tents, wagons and in fact everything used by this big organization is new.

There are numerous animal acts in this circus, two herds of huge elephants being a feature. There are 40 clowns, including Pete Mardo's clown band.

WEST SHOKAN WILL PLAY ASHOKAN JULY 4.

Arrangements have been made by the West Shokan Baseball Club to have the Ashokan team, formerly the Brown Station team, play them a return game at their home diamond in Watson Hollow on July 4. The game is booked for 2 p. m., standard time.

To the many baseball fans living in the Ashokan reservoir section, this meeting of the two home teams will be some event. The West Shokan boys are naturally quite anxious to win back their prestige of the past season, and the Ashokan boys, due to the fact that they have taken two games this year, feel that they should win easily. Both teams are stronger this year from the addition of new players, and in spite of the war season both teams have had considerable practice.

AMERICAN ZIONISTS IN CONVENTION

Palestine Foundation Fund Increased by $5,000,000 From America, Reports Schweitzer—Housing Shortage Extends to Palestine.

Philadelphia, June 27.—A report on the first year's progress of the Keren Hayesod (Palestine Foundation Fund) was the feature of the afternoon session of the silver jubilee convention of the Zionist Organization of America, which opened Sunday morning in this city at the Broad Street Theatre.

Peter J. Schweitzer, Chairman of the National Administrative Committee announced that $5,200,000, the second largest sum raised in America for a Jewish cause, was obtained up to June 15th in cash and pledges to be applied toward the development of Palestine as a National Homeland for Jews.

Emanuel Neuman, national secretary of the Keren Hayesod, stated that the Palestine Foundation Fund had aroused great enthusiasm not only among American Jews, but among non-Jews as well, from whom a considerable number of contributions have been received. Calling attention to the Lodge's resolution which had passed the Senate unanimously, and to the endorsement of the Keren Hayesod by President Harding, he ridiculed the insinuations made in some quarters that the Keren Hayesod was "un-American."

Mr. Schweitzer laid emphasis on the fact that not a dollar raised in this country was used to support the Zionist Organization in America or elsewhere, but that every cent not required for administrative expenses, which he claimed was kept at a low figure, is applied towards the actual work of remaking Palestine into the Jewish Homeland. He said that among the activities kept going by Keren Hayesod in Palestine are regulations and supervision of immigration, the maintenance of special services for immigrants, the support and promotion of agricultural colonization, the General Mortgage Bank, which is helping considerably to solve the housing shortage in Palestine, the maintenance of the American Zionist Medical Unit, and the support of the Palestine school system. Mr. Schweitzer also stated that the Keren Hayesod was acting as a powerful stimulant to private enterprise. He reviewed the crisis that beset the organization during the first twelve months of its activities, and declared that despite the efforts to defeat the work of the organization, substantial progress had been achieved.

ESCAPES FROM AUTO ON RIVER BOTTOM.
Coxsackie, June 27.—James Mansfield of Ravena was hurled into the Hudson river with his automobile shortly before 5 o'clock Monday afternoon when the brakes failed to work on a steep hill in Riverside avenue.

His wife and daughter, who had been riding with him, left the machine before Mansfield tried to make the hill.

Mansfield was pinned under the car on the river bed but managed to free himself and get to the surface. His injuries are not serious.

The Mansfields had been visiting relatives at Coxsackie and were on their way home when the accident occurred.

GREB WINS SLAM-BANG BATTLE FROM WALKER.
Pittsburgh, June 27.—Perpetual motion Harry Greb defeated Hugh Walker of Kansas City here last night in a ten round bout at Forbes Field. Greb won on points, but the "iron man" of the west gave the Pittsburgh boy a good run for his money. They didn't stall, they just fought ten bully rounds. In the first it looked for a time as though the champion was going to be uncrowned before the end of the round, but Greb pulled himself together and fought all the harder.

Large Boarding House Burns at Pataukunk

Sixty Inmates Forced to Leave Possessions to Flames Which Quickly Consume Three Big Buildings—Started in Garage.

Between fifty and sixty Jewish boarders mostly women and children were driven from their lodgings and lost many of their possessions by fire which destroyed the large frame rooming house of Rosenberger at Pataukunk at four o'clock this morning.

Besides the rooming house, the fire destroyed a large barn, carriage house and garage, entailing a total loss of buildings and contents, exclusive of the value of boarders' wearing apparel, money, etc., of about $10,000 to $12,000.

All the buildings were of frame construction and burned with great rapidity. The fire started in the garage and its origin is not known. It was thought by neighbors and boarders that a cigarette might have been dropped in an old Ford runabout belonging to Mr. Rosenberger which was in use Monday night and which was not returned to the garage until a late hour.

The fire was discovered and the fire spread rapidly to the other buildings which were nearby. So rapid was the spread of the flames to the big rooming house that many lodgers did not have time to dress themselves. They caught up what clothes they had time to seize and dressed outdoors.

One woman escaped with no other protection than her nightdress and was taken to the Indian Valley Inn at Kerhonkson, where she was fitted out with underwear by Proprietor Perley C. Morse who succeeded in gathering up enough feminine apparel from the hotel to provide the lady with sufficient clothing to return to New York.

Another woman saved enough of her clothing to make a presentable appearance but left her pocketbook containing ninety dollars to be consumed in the flames. Most of the lodgers saved enough clothing to comprise full equipment of dress or suit, but baggage and trunks were left where they had been placed when their owners retired for the night.

The fire made a spectacle that could be seen for many miles through the Rondout valley and from the slopes of the Shawangunk Mountains. Telephone messages to neighbors living in the vicinity awakened many residents of the valley and brought men hurrying to the scene to help in whatever way they could. Neighbors living close at hand succeeded in getting practically all the live stock to places of safety, but because of the intensity of the fire they were unable to enter the large barn, which was filled with farm machinery of various designs.

The Rosenberger house was one of three houses purchased more than a year ago from a Mr. Friedman, who had purchased it from the Landcake family, who owned the property for many years, and the place was well known throughout that part of the valley of the Rondout.

The three houses have been used by Mr. Rosenberger as rooming houses and all were filled with Jewish people from New York and vicinity. The other houses are some distance from the group of buildings that was burned. Within an hour and a half from the time the fire was discovered, the three buildings had been burned to the ground leaving nothing but a mass of hot ashes in which there was not a piece of timber big enough to make a baseball bat.

INTEREST GROWS IN HOTEL STOCK

Out-of-Town Residents Visited Today in Response to Telephone Calls—"Oscar's" Name Inspires Confidence.

Increased interest and activity Monday and today in the new hotel to be erected on the Sharpe property at Albany and Clinton avenues as the result of cooperation between the people of Ulster county and the world-famous "Oscar" of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York city, and his friends, are entirely satisfactory to those interested in the new hotel project and indicate that the city and county both are beginning to realize the benefits that are dependent on additional hotel accommodations such as the new hotel will provide.

The business and professional men and women of Kingston who are working to secure the new hotel will not have another meeting just yet but informal reports which they have made show a gratifying progress in the subscriptions to the preferred stock in the new hotel which measures up fully to the expectations of the small group of canvassers whose success in securing subscriptions to $110,000 in five days last week—an average of $22,000 a day—shows the phenomenal confidence of Ulster county people in Ulster county and in Kingston city, and their appreciation of the value of having "Oscar" so intimately connected with the enterprise. "Oscar's" reputation is known wherever there is a hotel anywhere in the world, and his residence in Ulster county already has a value aside from his connection with the new hotel which is beginning to be understood.

Today a large number of out of town residents of Ulster county were visited by canvassers in response to many telephone requests which have been made for further detailed information. Such requests also continue to be made from residents of Kingston. Anyone desiring information has only to telephone to the Chamber of Commerce. The call is 504.

IRISH POLICE BECOME ACTIVE

Churchill's Warning Results in Campaign to End Violence of Rebels—Commandant Henderson Among First Arrested.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, June 27.—Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill's warning that the Irish provisional government must clean out the headquarters of the irregular faction of the Irish provisional government in Dublin, was followed today by a number of arrests, including that of Commandant Henderson, one of the chief aides of "Rory" O'Connor, commander-in-chief of the rebellious faction of the Republican army.

The Irish police are more active than they have been at any time since the creation of the Irish Free State.

The position of the Lloyd-George government, which had been threatened by the assassination of Field Marshal Wilson by two Irishmen, was stronger than ever today as the result of the confidence vote in the house of commons last night.

WOMEN'S CLUBS PLEDGE $120,000

For New Headquarters at Washington—Jazz and Obscene Songs Condemned and Prohibition and Other Things Endorsed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chautauqua, N. Y., June 27.—Delegates to the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in an hour and five minutes, pledged $120,000 for the new headquarters at Washington. The first $70,000 is to go for the actual cost of the house, and an additional $50,000 for the furnishings.

A campaign against jazz and obscene songs, was initiated by the federation last evening. The federation music committee has made a survey of popular music, as a result of which it claims that at least two-thirds of the present day songs should be suppressed. Committees will be formed to watch the music played on sale throughout the country and to prosecute where the necessary evidence is secured.

Prohibition enforcement, the Near East Relief and fire, kindergarten were endorsed by the convention. Resolutions, presented for action later, call for the settlement of disputes by arbitration and international law and support the Colorado River dam, American opera, constructive government policies for the betterment of the Indians and the penal reform program of the national committee on prisons and prison labor, and the Towne-Stirling bill. At a special conference on work for former service men, the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary were endorsed.

Closely the floodgates of immigration was the subject of a speech last evening by Dr. Charles F. Prosser of Duwody Institute, Minneapolis, Minn., in which he declared that alien manpower for industry was being bought at a tremendous cost to American institutions and urged restrictions on immigration.

WOMEN'S CLUBS
PLEDGE $120,000

For New Headquarters at Washington—Jazz and Obscene Songs Condemned and Prohibition and Other Things Endorsed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chautauqua, N. Y., June 27.—Delegates to the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in an hour and five minutes, pledged $120,000 for the new headquarters at Washington. The first $70,000 is to go for the actual cost of the house, and an additional $50,000 for the furnishings.

A campaign against jazz and obscene songs, was initiated by the federation last evening. The federation music committee has made a survey of popular music, as a result of which it claims that at least two-thirds of the present day songs should be suppressed. Committees will be formed to watch the music played on sale throughout the country and to prosecute where the necessary evidence is secured.

Prohibition enforcement, the Near East Relief and fire, kindergarten were endorsed by the convention. Resolutions, presented for action later, call for the settlement of disputes by arbitration and international law and support the Colorado River dam, American opera, constructive government policies for the betterment of the Indians and the penal reform program of the national committee on prisons and prison labor, and the Towne-Stirling bill. At a special conference on work for former service men, the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary were endorsed.

Closely the floodgates of immigration was the subject of a speech last evening by Dr. Charles F. Prosser of Duwody Institute, Minneapolis, Minn., in which he declared that alien manpower for industry was being bought at a tremendous cost to American institutions and urged restrictions on immigration.

BIRDS ON NEW SPRING HATS

"Birds for spring" is the slogan of many women who are assembling their millinery for the coming season. The chapeau here shown crowns the head of a well-known motion-picture actress. A light gray suit of whipcord sets off the hat.

SKIRTS AT WINTER RESORTS
White Flannel Favored; Black Approved Color Contrast; Tucks Form Panel Effects.

"When the woman who goes to Palm Beach and the other winter resorts takes into consideration the white flannel skirt, she usually chooses one on very simple lines," says the buyer of one of the largest New York establishments. "Of course, they have novel embellishment, but she is almost always conservative in her tastes."

With this clientele in view they are showing now, and report a good business on models developed of white flannel, and in most cases when a contrasting color is used, it takes the form of black. She thinks very favorably of the continued vogue of black and white for winter resort and summer wear.

Bringing out this color contrast, they are showing most attractive skirts. One of them cut on straight lines has inserts of the white flannel placed at intervals around the skirt, while groups of three tiny tabs of grosgrain ribbon are placed in broken line down each insert.

On another straight-cut white flannel, square pockets with flap turnover are used, the flap stitched in black silk floss in stripe effect. The same stitching continues down the entire length of the skirt and the width of the pocket, on golf lap tucks, giving the effect of a panel front.

Machine embroidery closely resembling braid is placed at intervals only around the border of another white flannel, and the novelty cut pockets have extremely narrow binding. The pearl button on the skirt is sewed on with black silk thread, to carry out to the letter the black and white contrast, while the buttonhole is black bound also.

VEILS ARE OF THREE TYPES
One Has Small Dots of Dainty Pattern; Another a Spanish Novelty; for Draping.

Three types of veils, aside from the face veil, have recently been contesting for popular favor. This is most noticeable in the exclusive shops which sponsor these three; the lace or chantilly, the chenille dotted veil and the embroidered effects in the square or fancy shapes, preferably the square.

One of the veils has very small dots in a dainty pattern and a one-rod border of larger dots which is carried lengthwise around the veil as well as on the ends. Very heavy lace is also found as a medium for a long, narrow model. This veil is for draping around the crown of a hat and hanging in long ends at the back.

A Spanish novelty which is used on a hat having a wired half circle of lace in black is a veil of large filet mesh with a woven design all over. It is used full across the back of the hat and hangs slightly below the shoulders, the impression being that the hat is shirred on the brim. The wired lace is of similar character but of finer mesh. This type of veil is seen on the gold and silver hats designed for afternoon or evening wear.

A henna chenille dot differs from the ordinary veil by its pointed ends and the fact that the dots are used on a filet mesh. Square veils are to be seen with plain solid borders slightly over an inch in width. This kind of veil is shown in several mesh designs and many shades, such as henna, navy, brown and black. A black lace scarf which may be worn as a hat decoration has scalloped edge and a border of cosmoline flowers artistically grouped.

Velvet Frocks.
A new black velvet frock recently noted was made on the long slim lines and trimmed with tarnished steel. The sleeves were wide at the wrist and were embroidered with the steel. There were side panels which fell below the lower edge of the skirt. There was a narrow panel at the bodice front of gray cloth decorated with the dull steel, and there was a narrow girdle at the front formed of the steel.

Divorce Easy in Uruguay.

"I do not wish to live any longer with this person!" In Uruguay, "the divorcee's paradise," that is all a dissatisfied wife need say to a court to be awarded an absolute divorce. She gets it without further trouble. There is no such thing as a legal obstacle to be overcome. When the Uruguayan husband wants a divorce he has a harder job. He must go into court, make accusations on which to base his demand, and then prove his charges. Uruguayan women when they marry retain their sages and their identity.

Will Grow in Trees.

One of the first flowers to greet us in the spring and one that blooms along into early summer, is the dainty Giant or Great chickweed, says the American Forestry Magazine. One cannot pass this species of chickweed without noticing its pretty white flowers. Sometimes the seeds of this plant will find their way into some crevice of a tree. Then we have the pleasure of seeing a fine specimen flourishing quite a distance up from terra firma, and often doing better than those on the ground.

Chinese Poetry vs. Freud.

Chinese literature could exercise a beneficial influence on our own. It proves for example—and this is contrary to the doctrine of our romantic Freudians—that a great poetry can exist by other virtue than its sexual interest. It offers a resolution of our too favorite antithesis between romanticism and classicism, for it is a literature both human and humanistic; a literature that is classical without being unmodified. American poetry could learn this from the Chinese.—Malcolm Cowley in the Sun.

LEONARD'S FOUL LEAVES BAD ODOR

Majority of Fight Fans Think Fight a Frame-up Between Two of Craftiest Business Men Who Ever Fought.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, June 27.—The gentle art of flatbush, New York state model, received a body-blow more painful than Jack Britton received last night and was fouled more viciously than Jack Britton was fouled when he was smacked with a left hook by Benny Leonard as he knelt on one knee near the end of the thirteenth round. Already in something of a precarious state, the same in New York today is having the finger of suspicion pointing at it from all quarters.

Stories are being recalled of the infamous Gans-Britton bout in California some fifteen years ago, an affair that came to a summary conclusion under circumstances strikingly similar to last night's encounter. On that occasion, Britton lost on a foul by hitting Gans as he rested on one knee.

The inference is being made by fans that Leonard and Britton, prompted by reasons of their own, reenacted the Gans-Britton fiasco.

This writer makes no such imputation. Having no occult gift, he doesn't know what was in Leonard's mind as he pushed past Referee Patsy Haley as the latter was starting his count, and cuffed Britton on the side of the head with a left hook. For the same reason, the writer cannot account for the actions of one of Leonard's handlers, who jumped into the ring almost immediately, thus making disqualification certain. Much of that business was beyond all normal understanding.

For instance, if Leonard was determined to lose, it was not necessary to gain his point by fouling. He was a badly worried fighter at that stage of the proceedings, anyhow. If Leonard was determined to win, he must have known that he could not do it by seeking a gentleman who was in no legal position to be socked. Leonard is far too wise in ring lore to commit a faux pas of that kind, although many of his friends claimed that in reality Benny lost his head. If so, it was the first time the lightweight champion had ever exhibited symptoms of ring hysteria.

Another and final point made by some of the post mortem debaters was that Leonard, knowing that he was beaten, preferred to lose on a foul than have an official decision go against him. That theory is not altogether impossible.

However, those who deem the proceedings as a raw piece of business are in the majority. In making their claim, they point to the fact that Leonard was just starting to show something after being on the losing end all night; that he had taken the twelfth round in a wide margin and that the left hook to the body, on which Britton's claim of foul was disallowed by Haley, had really hurt Jack badly. That in brief, with Britton on the floor and Haley counting, Leonard was all set to win but selected the one method by which he was certain of losing.

In view of the insinuations, it might not be a bad idea for the boxing commission to put on an investigation and rather clear or convict the principals. Rumors of this kind should not, for the good of the game, be allowed to roam at large.

Thought for the Day.
Many a husband and wife stay married simply because neither one likes the idea of quarreling with a stranger.

KIEFER DITCHES CAR; PARTY HURT

Monday morning, opposite Pareis's Garage on the upper road at Malden, Nathan Kiefer while trying to pass another car going to New York city ran into a ditch upsetting his car and hurling the occupants out into the roadway. Besides Kiefer the party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hammer and daughter, also of New York city and Max Mager of South Cairo.

Shortly after the accident the injured were taken to the office of Dr. G. B. Gifford of Saugerties, where they were given first aid and the more seriously hurt were taken to the Benedictine Hospital, this city, in the Seamon Brothers Company ambulance of Saugerties. Mrs. Hammer was bruised and cut about the head, mouth and arm. Mrs. Kiefer was also cut about the head. Mr. Kiefer suffered cuts on his face and hands and Mr. Mager was injured internally. The children were also slightly hurt.

The car was said to be proceeding at about 35 miles an hour when it hit a deep depression in the roadway it swerved into the ditch. The top of the car was a complete wreck, the wheels of the car smashed off and generally the car was a wreck. The injured are still patients at the Benedictine and they are resting as comfortably as can be expected. Nothing serious is expected to develop to any of the injured.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES.

Writers of advertisements who refer to that particular kind of a smile that won't come off, kindly communicate with George Herman Ruth, alias the Babe. George Herman returned to the Yankees, following his suspension, and forthwith smooched his eighth homer of the season off Jack Quinn. Incidentally Bob Shawkey beat the Red Sox single-handed with another in the ninth. It was the first Yankee victory in five starts.

That peculiar person known as Stueled pitched the Pirates into submission, 6 to 1, confining the Pirates to six hits.

Kerk, the general who some day may conduct a newspaper column known as "Kerk's Kaustic Comments," subdued the Cardinals on behalf of the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 4.

One moment, please! Have a care, dangerous curve ahead. All set? Plunk! Plunk! The Phils emerged from the cellar by beating the Braves for the fifth straight time, 9 to 5, thanks to the fact that J. Miller was shot full of holes in the early innings.

The Indians turned on the Browns, which is much better than turning on the gas, and with Coveleskie pitching as of yore, won 6 to 0.

EASY TO TRACE EVOLUTION

Probably That of the Horse is the Most Perfect of Which There is Evidence.

There is on record no more perfect example of evolution than the horse. Under the able direction of Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, the distinguished president of the American Museum of Natural History, the greatest collection of fossil horses in the world has been brought together in the museum. We have so detailed a record that the complete evolution of the horse, from the tiny, five-toed, forest-dwelling, cretaceous ancestor, to Man o' War, the most perfect living horse, is there for all to trace, writes Roy Chapman Andrews, in Asia Magazine.

The horse, we know, originated in Wyoming and adjacent parts of the West. At first he was a shy, retiring creature, no larger than a terrier, with five toes on feet adapted to the soft, springy ground of the forests. As the wooded area began to decrease in extent, the horse's performance changed his habits, becoming more and more a plains-living animal dependent upon speed to protect him from enemies. Since his five-toed feet were not adapted for swift running on hard ground, the middle toe gradually developed the hoof, and the side digits disappeared, except for the so-called "splint-bones" in horses as we know them today. The causes that forced the evolution of the horse are in certain respects similar to those that we see effective in human evolution.

Many theories concerning the evolution of man have been advanced by eminent scientists. That proposed by the late Prof. Joseph Barrell of Yale university has much to give it support.

Professor Barrell believed that, as the forests decreased and the anthropoid apes could no longer retreat southward because of the great barrier of the Himalaya mountains, they were forced to adapt themselves to a life upon the ground. Whether or not they did this from necessity or choice, it seems almost sure that the progenitor of man was a "ground ape"—a creature living on nuts and roots and, when in danger, running to the trees for safety. As he gradually lost the shelter of the forest, he had to acquire the means of protecting himself and of combating the enemies of the ground. This led to a communal life, hands with an opposed thumb with which to grip sticks and stones to be used in defense, an erect posture and a foot adapted to swift and sustained running. These bodily changes, which were of profound importance, must have taken place very slowly—in hundreds of thousands of years. The physical adaptations carried with them a mental development correspondingly remarkable. Thus it was, says Professor Barrell, that man diverged from the parent ape-stock.

Age of Discretion.

People of mature years, not old people, understand, but simply people out of the first flush of foolish youth, do occasionally get their linings. To be sure, they sometimes read in the public prints about "an old lady of fifty-five," which, though admittedly evidently absurd, is nevertheless disturbing to the morals. And once in a while there is a manifestly erroneous headline about the death of an old man who turns out to be a person just in his prime; sixty-two, say.

But, as we started to say, observes the Kansas City Star, there is balm in Gilead. Pictures of A. J. Balfour, no Sir Arthur, no Earl Balfour, are now in circulation, showing him in an active game of tennis at Cannes. Tennis, as every one knows, is a game for youngsters. No elderly person can cover a court. This gay young dog, shown chasing a ball with a racket, is seventy-four.

"The days of our age are three score years and ten..." Hush! That was long ago. We are doing much better than they did in the time of Moses. When we reach seventy we are only at years of discretion. Ask Earl Balfour.

Physical Chemistry.

Lectures given recently at various American centers of learning by Dr. F. W. Aston of Cambridge made a notable contribution to the general knowledge of the remarkable advances of the moment in physical chemistry. More and more it is coming to be taken for granted that the chemical elements are made up of identically the same stuff, and that they differ only in their structural arrangements. More and more the passage from one element to another, which so dumb-founded science when it was first observed taking place spontaneously, is coming to be a matter of course and something which we may ultimately hope to control.—Scientific American.

More Work for Windmills.

The old farm windmill will be given a new job if the engineering experiments that are now being made at the Iowa station prove to be successful. Turning a dynamo to produce electric lights on the farm is the idea being tested by F. C. Fenton, agricultural engineer, and E. C. Kurtz, electrical engineer, at the Iowa State college. The test is being made with an ordinary windmill which turns a generator, and the electricity is stored in batteries until used. If it proves to be practical, engineers see the possibilities of making cheap lights available on the farm.

No Other Lights Needed.

The beautiful motorist, stopped by the traffic cop on account of headlight trouble, turned her gaze full upon him. "Your lamps are all right," said the susceptible young officer. "Drive on!"

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

FATHER FOOD

"What is the matter now, Butter?" asked Father Food. "I should think you and Bread would know enough not to quarrel by this time. In fact I always thought you got along beautifully and now, these past few days, I've heard you talking and scolding each other."

"What is the trouble?"

"Oh," said Butter, "Bread is so contented. Bread says it is more important than any other member of your family, Father."

"Bread says it doesn't need me in the least, but it lets me come along just because it's nice in a way to have company."

"Now I've told Bread that it wouldn't be nearly so nice without me, and then too, think how useful I am! If anyone gets a horrid, painful burn, a little of me on the place which has been burned is a great, great help."

"I ease the pain, tremendously."

"That is quite true, Butter, but what Bread has said is also true. Bread is a very necessary and important member of my family."

"But you two mustn't quarrel. It is so absurd. Why, what would people say if they thought that Bread and Butter had taken to quarrelling?"

"It's the natural thing to put you two together. For years and years you've been the best of friends and brothers so that people always speak of Bread and Butter together."

"They hardly think of you separately."

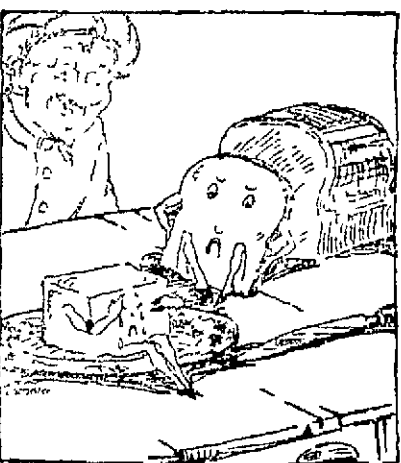

Butter began to cry a little.

"There there, Butter, don't cry. You don't want to melt away in tears. And you're just been acting a little bit foolishly lately. So has Bread. You'll not act so foolishly again, I'm sure."

"For it is foolish—that's all!"

"Very foolish," said Butter, "and we've both been really unhappy about it."

"Now, we'll have lessons," said Father Food. "Come, children, come."

"Butter Began to Cry."

children. Lessons are about to begin."

So all the children came hurrying along with their slates and pencils under their arms.

"Radishes!" said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Radishes.

"Potatoes!" said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Potatoes.

"Onions!" said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Onions, and some of the others wept as they moved about a little as they spoke.

"Beets," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Beets.

"Cabbages," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Cabbages.

"Beans," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Beans.

"Carrots," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Carrots.

"Tomatoes," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Tomatoes.

"Peas," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Peas.

"Spinach," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Spinach.

"Turnips," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Turnips.

"Cauliflower," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Cauliflower.

"Bread and Butter!" said Father Food.

"Present!" they answered cheerily.

"Prunes," said Father Food.

"Present!" said the Prunes.

Then Father Food taught the children their lessons. They told him what they were best for and how they grew and all about themselves and their little histories. And when they didn't know he told them and made them study until they could answer all the questions.

Then school was out for the day, and Father Food was proud for the lessons had been very well recited.

He Traveled With Them.

"Suppose you had two apples, Johnnie," said a Sunday school teacher who hoped to give her class of boys a moral lesson. "And suppose one of the other boys wanted one of them. You would let him take the largest of them, wouldn't you?"

"It wouldn't be necessary, ma'am," answered Johnnie, as he surveyed the other boys of the class. "I know this crowd."

Playing Safe.

"Bobby, I see your music teacher coming. Have you washed your face and hands?"

"Yes'm."

"And your ears?"

"Well, ma, I washed the one that will be next to her."

SUMMER DRINKS

There is nothing in the line of food that will take the place of refreshing drinks to a parched throat. The appetite craves them during warm weather, and it a few bottles of ginger ale and a syphon of carbonated water are kept in the ice box, with the raspberry and grape juice prepared last season, supplemented with lemons and other delicious fruit juices, one need never have the same drink twice during the hot days.

Often a given formula well liked by the one who prepares it on lacks something that one's taste and that of her family needs to supply. If one is careful to write down just the proportions of a drink that just suits and always uses them correctly, the drink will always be satisfactory.

Old-Fashioned Ginger Water.—This is the drink used in the fields in the early days, when the Pilgrim fathers were harvesting their wheat. Take one heaping tablespoonful of ginger; mix with one-half cupful of sugar; add one tablespoonful of lemon juice or vinegar and three pints of chilled water. Stir well and serve very cold.

Fruit Punch.—Boil together for ten minutes three cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water with the rind of one lemon and one orange. Strain and, while hot, add one glass of currant jelly. Set on ice and, when ready to serve, add the juice of nine lemons, five oranges and one cupful each of cherries and shredded pineapple. Pour into a punch bowl, add ice and water, adding charged water, a pint at a time, to give it a zest.

Orange Pekoe Punch.—Make five cupfuls of orange pekoe infusion, using three teaspoonfuls of the tea. Boil one cupful of water and two cupfuls of sugar for five minutes; when cool, add the juice of seven lemons, two oranges, and set on ice until ready to serve. To the tea infusion add plenty of ice and pour into the punch bowl; add the fruit juices, the sugar syrup and one cupful of crystallized cherries, one cupful of shredded pineapple, a few sliced strawberries or a few slices of orange. Add more water, if needed, with a little more sugar.

Chess vs. Checkers. Chess appeals to mature minds, and wood supplies most of the accoutrements with which it is played. Some of the best are of ebony and boxwood, but very satisfactory games may be played with yellow poplar, bass wood, walnut, maple and birch outfits, says the American Forestry Magazine. The same holds true on checkers, but that game usually is rated a little lower than chess in scientific points, though no less an authority than Edgar Allan Poe holds that as a mental exercise of the highest and purest sort checkers surpass chess.

How to Make and Use It By A. HYATT VESSEL

XVI. SIMPLE CRYSTAL DETECTOR RECEIVING SET

A very simple and effective little set (Fig. 43) under favorable conditions and with a good aerial, will pick up the broadcast music, signals and other sounds from stations at considerable distances. No specific range for this or any other set can be given, for the efficiency of any set depends upon a great many conditions and influences. The length and height of aerials, the proximity of high buildings, electrically charged cables or wires, the perfection of insulation of aerial, adjustment of instruments; all affect the range of a receiving set and, in addition, there are climatic and other conditions to be taken into consideration.

In the diagram A represents the aerial, which should be a single wire as nearly 150 feet in length as possible and as high as it can be placed. B is the ground which should be made by scraping a spot on a gas, water or radiator pipe and soldering the wire in place. C is a variable condenser in the ground lead, and for this set should be about .0005 microfarads. D is the crystal detector, E the telephone head set and F a variometer.

The variable condenser and variometer may be purchased ready-made from any dealer in radio supplies and while they may be made at home yet it is far more satisfactory and just about as cheap to purchase the stock instruments. The same is true of the crystal detector and head set. You should, however, be careful in selecting the galena crystal to be used with such an outfit as this mineral varies greatly in its sensitiveness. The best plan is to purchase a pound or two of the crystals and test a number of pieces by means of a buzzer. You will probably find that while some crystals are absolutely useless others are fair and a few are very sensitive. To make up such a set is very simple, as the various parts are merely connected with insulated copper wire, as shown in the figure, using binding posts which may be purchased for a few cents. The whole may then be mounted on a piece of fibre-board or bakelite or it may be set up on a neat board or block and enclosed in a case with a hinged cover. Such a set, including all connections, wires, insulators for aerial, etc., should not cost over $20, and will be found far superior to many ready-made sets costing much more.

Crystal Detectors and How to Make One.—The crystal detectors used in sets such as described are of various forms, Fig. 44, but in all the principle is the same and they all consist of a crystal cup or holder, binding screws and an adjustable contact of fine wire. They are not expensive instruments and it is usually easier and cheaper to purchase them ready made than to make them, but they are very easy to construct and any boy can make a practical detector in a few hours. One of the simplest is shown in Fig. 45, and consists merely of a glass base, a strip of brass about 1-16 or 1-8 inch thick bent in the form shown, a brass plate which can be moved from side to side on a pivot, to hold the crystal; a fine coiled wire and binding-posts. The plate holding the crystal is connected with one post and the brass strip holding the wire to the other post. If possible, use platinum wire for the contact, but this is not essential.

Word of Saxon Origin.

The word "step" in "step-father" or "step-mother" is of Anglo-Saxon origin, and is derived from "steop," meaning bereft. It was first applied to children who had been bereft of a parent—thus an orphan was called, in Old English, a "step-bairn." In those days a "step-father" was one who took on the duties of father to an orphan. Nowadays, of course, the term "step-child" is applied to the child of a husband or wife by a former marriage.

"Boxing the Compass."

"Boxing the compass" is a term applied to the ability to repeat the names of all the points, half points, quarter points and eighth points of the compass, in their proper order. This is an accomplishment required of sailors, especially those called upon to steer vessels. The origin of the term is not known. However, the fact that the compass on board ship is contained in a brass box may account for it.

The correct answer to Mr. Edison's question:

"What is Grape-Nuts made of?"

Answered by the makers of Grape-Nuts

THIS is one of a number of questions which Mr. Edison is putting to applicants for an important position in his organization. We are happy to learn the interest shown in the food, Grape-Nuts, by a man of such broad attainments as Mr. Edison.

There has never been any secret about what Grape-Nuts is made of. It has been on the market for 24 years, and practically everybody knows its composition.

But inasmuch as such a simple, everyday question as "When did Columbus discover America?" is often incorrectly answered, it may be well to take this opportunity to restate the following facts about Grape-Nuts:

Grape-Nuts is a highly nourishing cereal food, made from a mixture of whole wheat flour, malted barley, salt and water. The mixture is raised by yeast, baked in loaves, then sliced, further baked, and then crushed into granules.

No food in the world is so thoroughly baked as Grape-Nuts. More than 20 hours are consumed in the various baking processes.

As every diet expert knows, this long baking brings about conversion of the carbohydrate elements, developing dextrin, maltose and dextrose or grape-sugar—a form of sugar to which all starch elements must be changed before they can be assimilated by the system.

Grape-Nuts when eaten does not form a pasty mass difficult to digest—the 20-hours baking makes this delicious food easily digested by even those with the most delicate stomachs; and the character of the food requires thorough mastication.

Grape-Nuts is a well-balanced food for building bone, tooth and nerve structure. When combined with cream or milk, it is admittedly a complete food.

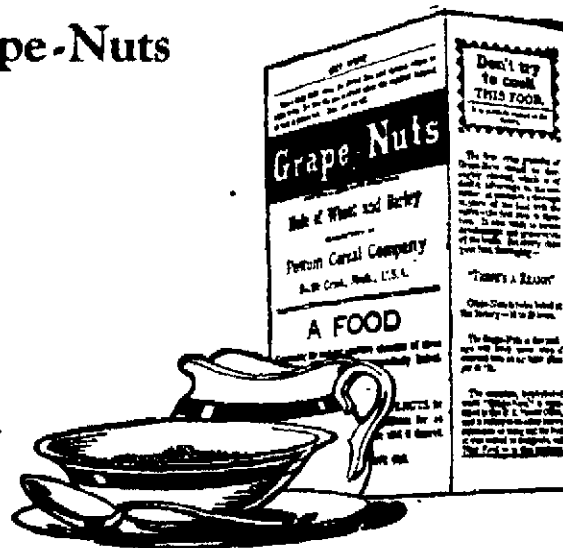

You will find Grape-Nuts everywhere. At your grocer's, your club, your hotel, your restaurant.

In America, where you don't find Grape-Nuts you won't find people.

GLASSES that were not made to fit the exact measurements of your eyes, are worse than useless and should not be worn. The crystalline lenses from another person's eyes would not give you the proper sight if they were placed between the pupils and the retinas of your eyes. Neither will glasses that are not made to your eye measure benefit you. We are competent to serve you.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Dept. of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?
1. What are caraway seeds?
2. When did they start importing reindeer into Alaska?
3. Are cuckoos nest robbers?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions:
1. Please tell me why the common snapping turtle cannot swallow unless his head is below the surface of water?

We can't tell you why. So far as we know, nobody can explain satisfactorily. The snapping turtle, by habit spends much of its time embedded in mud under water, and seems to prefer to eat in the element in which it commonly lives. The habit is observed, but not accounted for even by eminent specialists.

2. Do any rats beside the Trading rat steal objects and carry them to the nest?

Yes, this is a characteristic of American wood rats, our native rats. Sticks, bones, almost any small bit of trash is collected. The Trading rat is most notorious for this habit, adding the trick of leaving some article in exchange occasionally. But the rest of the wood rats are troublesome as thieves near any camp or dwelling, though it is not food they steal, things being "wild" seeds, nuts, carious fruits, etc.

3. Can the Canada goose be kept in captivity?

Yes, easily, if it has proper home and food. Zoo specimens usually feed on cracked corn and whole wheat, with a little other grain for variety. In winter they need some sort of shelter near the pond's edge, and when the latter freezes over, a place must be broken out so that the geese can continue to paddle—otherwise they will freeze their feet. Canada geese are often successfully reared from stolen eggs and live comfortably with domestic geese.

HEALTH OFFICERS IN CONFERENCE

Biggs Would Have Annual Physical Examination of Every Inhabitant—Death Rate Lowest in State's History—1,000 in Attendance.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 27.—In opening the Joint Annual Conference of Sanitary Officers and Public Health Nurses, which began here today under the auspices of the State Department of Health, Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, commissioner of health, urged an annual physical examination of every man, woman and child in the state as a health measure of the first importance. Dr. Biggs said in part:

"During the past few months we have put into effect in the Department of Health a system of thorough physical examination of all of the employees of the department. These examinations have disclosed the existence in a considerable number of previously unrecognized defects and diseases and have emphasized strongly the urgent public health importance of such regular routine annual physical examinations of all persons."

"I have advocated this previously for more than a dozen years and have always desired to put it into practical effect in the State Department of Health but for various reasons have not been able to do so before. I would particularly urge health officers to practice and advocate this procedure as an extraordinarily valuable public health measure of far-reaching importance both to the individual and to the community."

"The general death rate has been the lowest in the history of the state. For 1921 it was 12.2 as compared with 13.8 in 1920, previously the low record."

"The infant death rate was the lowest in the history of the state. In passing I wish to call your attention to several events which are certain to be full of significance for the history of the public health movement in this country. During the past year, the Rockefeller Foundation has given $6,000,000 for the erection of buildings and providing an endowment for a school of public health at Johns Hopkins University and about $2,500,000 to Harvard to supplement the funds available for a similar school."

"The Millbank Memorial Fund has set aside a fund amounting to $325,000 each year for a period of five years for a tuberculosis demonstration planned somewhat after the style of that which was conducted at Framingham, Mass."

"The constant self-sacrifice and self-denial of the family doctor and his devotion to his work and duty have been so generally recognized that they have become almost proverbial; but the unselfish devotion of the doctor as health officer to the higher good of the community which he serves has been less generally recognized. It is, however, not less noteworthy and it is most unfortunate that his services have been and are being less generously rewarded even than those of the physician in private practice."

"The compensation of persons in public health positions is as a whole in this country ridiculously inadequate when one considers the difficulty of the problems with which they deal and the importance to the communities which they serve of the duties which they perform and the immensely valuable contributions which medicine and public health have made to the public welfare."

The commissioner referred to the Davenport bill creating a Division of Maternity, Infancy and Child Welfare in the State Department of Health and asked for the cooperation of local officials in a state-wide campaign to reduce the maternity and infant death rate.

The conference which is the largest annual meeting of public health workers in the country and perhaps in the world, is being attended by nearly 1,000 persons, representing practically every city, township and incorporated village in the state. It will continue into Thursday.

Other speakers today were Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell University; Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation; Prof. George C. Whipple of Harvard University; and Bailey B. Burritt, general director of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor of New York City.

JOSEPH BLOCK WILL MEET GENERAL E. A. TAUFFLIEB.

French General Here on Mission Known to Local Man.

Joseph Block, the lower Broadway dry goods merchant, Monday received a letter from General Emil Adolf Taufflieb, who commanded the 37th French Army Corps during the World War, and who is now in this country on a semi-official visit, stating that the general would be at the Hotel St. Regis in New York on July 14, and that he would be glad to meet Mr. Block at that time.

Mr. Block a few days ago read in the newspapers that General Taufflieb was in this country, and the name seemed familiar as Mr. Block's parents were well acquainted with a Taufflieb family, who were bankers in Alsace in France. Mr. Block knowing that the name Taufflieb was unusual wrote to the general asking him if he was a member of the family known to the Blocks over half a century ago, and received the reply that he was and would be glad to meet Mr. Block in New York.

General Taufflieb married Miss Julia Catlin of New York and is representing Alsace in the French senate.

Mr. Block left Alsace when a youth of seventeen years and came to Kingston and has been a resident here for the past fifty-six years.

POP FLY JAMIE'S BIG CLOUD HIT

The quest of a greased pig is proving quite an exciting one to the Crosspatch community committee which is arranging the 4th of July celebration to be held in Willow Grove at Crosspatch Annex.

Of course, they don't expect to find him already greased. They are going to anoint him plentifully with lard, presumably tried out from one of his forbears—but just this pig, seven or eight weeks old and warranted sound and active—is ready what might be termed an "easy" problem.

"I have no doubt one of the Crosspatch readers will come for me with a suitable pig," says Mrs. Cross, "and knowing how ready people are to help, perhaps I might find that only one little pig is wanted."

The usual program of sports and games which enliven outdoor celebrations will be held and prizes given to the winners in each event.

The ladies' egg and spoon race would bring contestants of all sizes and ages, as success in this race means a certain knack in holding an egg on a spoon while you run along a level path. The knack of keeping the egg on the spoon can be acquired by practice and if weeding the garden seems somewhat neglected for a hand, no anxiety need be felt, the lady is getting ready for the egg and spoon race. The garden can wait attention later.

It has been decided to have the fireworks and evening dance at Crosspatch Annex in Willow. Commissioner Ruseley has done a really good piece of work during the last week in working the road from Willow to Crosspatch Mountain House, and the road still needs a lot of work to make it comfortable for automobiles. Mrs. Cross hopes the 4th of July celebration, while affording lots of fun, will also provide a fund to improve the road.

The parade of fantasies is attracting a good deal of attention. The idea of masquerading in any sort of funny old costume is popular, even though this is the first time the masqueraders have gone on parade. A prize of $5 is offered for the best group and $2 for the most comical individual costume. No entrance fee is required. Any group of people may put on the funniest faces and fall into the parade. It starts from Willow post office at 10:30, daylight saving time. It will go up the road a piece and return to Crosspatch Annex, which is near the post office.

The committee on sports are Dr. Ernest Giguereux, Thomas Elder, Harry Martin, Dr. Arnold H. Sutherland, Clarence Wolven, Earle Lane and A. R. Peters.

The committee on speakers and patriotic exercises are Miss Blanche MacDonald, Mrs. George Hooke, Philip Carey, Mrs. B. Franklin Cross, Elmer Wilbur.

The committee on fireworks and dancing are Capt. B. Franklin Cross, Capt. Blythe, Mrs. Elmer Wilbur, John Martin, Mrs. Ford Quick, Mrs. Edward Hooke, Mrs. Harvey Strander, Mrs. Walter Bryce, Miss Marguerite Gauld, Miss Ethelyn Wilbur, Walter Hoffman, Earl Watson, Walter Shultz, Clarence Wolven.

Those who saw the game say that the blame cloud carried it a mile away finally dropping it on the sand lot where a bunch of kids were playing the game, and it came in mighty useful for they had just lost the only ball they had, but were able to finish the game with the ball sent them from the clouds.

"What became of the ball?"

The afternoon had been an ideal one in the mountains, but as the hour was growing late huge masses of clouds began to steal down into the valley where the game was being played, and one particularly heavy cloud looked as though it would envelop the diamond at any minute.

Suddenly Twin Gormley wound up and tossed over his famous drop.

As the ball sailed toward the plate Pop Fly Jamie swung sharply. Ball and bat met in a sharp crack and the ball flew high in the air.

As the bat and ball met the big cloud was floating about thirty feet above the diamond and the ball disappeared in the clouds of vapor.

As Jamie struck at the ball he started to run. The Buster fielders were flabbergasted. They had seen the ball hit but the clouds obscured it from view. In the meantime the Gallupers on bases galloped home with Jamie right behind them with the winning run.

The Score Stood 8 to 0 in Favor of Busters When Pop Fly Jamie Won Game for Gallupers With His Stick—Only in Mountain League Could Play Happen.

The Gallupers and the Busters of Mountain League had met in deadly battle on the diamond. Eight innings had flown by with the Busters in the lead. Captain Twin Gormley was all smiles as he glanced at the score card with approval shining in his eyes.

On the other hand Captain Ralph Roodboy of the Gallupers was grim, and grew glummer as the innings slid by and his hated rivals still held the lead. The Busters came in for their half of the ninth with the score still 3 to 0 in their favor.

Captain Roodboy, who was pitching for his Gallupers, faced the Busters and pitched with skill. So well did he toss them over that they went down in one, two, three order, and then the Gallupers came in with a win or die expression on their faces.

"Slam them out!" implored Captain Roodboy as the first Galluper faced the slants of Captain Twin Gormley, who was hurling them over for his Busters.

Eagle Eye Johnson, the first of the Gallupers to face Twin in the last inning took his captain at his word and slammed the pill for a Texas leaguer on which he reached first. Slim Gilley also secured a hit advancing Eagle Eye to second. Then up came Hong Run Slater but all he could obtain was a single which advanced the other two Gallupers and left the bases full.

It looked as though the Gallupers were about to even up the score when the old reliable second sacker and all around slant artist of the Gallupers came to bat, but all he touched was a fly which short stop easily caught. Captain Roodboy was up and his team mates implored him to win his own game, but truth compels the statement that Roodboy struck out.

Three on bases, two out, and up to the plate stepped Pop Fly Jamie Jenkins.

"It's all off," groaned the Galluper rooters as they prepared to gather up their hats and coats and leave for home "all Jamie will hit is another popper."

Pop Fly Jamie, if he heard the remarks of the fans gave no sign and appeared unruffled as he faced Twin Gormley who scornfully asked him where he would like to have it.

"Just toss it over anywhere," retorted Pop Fly, as he glanced skyward.

A New Sense of Freedom

In Cantilever Shoes you walk with a new sense of freedom, a new lifting step, a new rhythmic swing of the weight from one foot to the other. Gone is the vise-like restriction of stiff soles, gone is the weariness due to distorted feet and poor posture, gone are the aches and pains of fallen arches. Health and comfort walk in the Cantilever Shoe.

Designed for Comfort.

The last is patterned from the outline of the foot. The natural inner sole line provides room for the toes and allows them to point straight ahead. This and the well-set heel encourage correct posture. In Cantilevers, the weight is distributed so that there is no strain on the arch of the foot.

And the shank of the shoe flexes! With every step, the shoe yields with the foot. The muscles have free play, they exercise and grow strong. Cantilevers correct and prevent flat foot because they strengthen the muscles that surround and uphold the small bones of the arch.

Trim oxfords in several leathers and in white linen; also high shoes and pumps.

PEEKSKILL HAD GOOD TIME HERE

Manager Lou Brown of the Kingston Colonials has just received a letter from William H. Flynn of the Peekskill Kaysees who played the Colonials here on Sunday thanking the locals for the courtesies and hospitality extended them while here that day.

Mr. Flynn writes: "Now that the game between our respective clubs has become a matter of history I wish to take this opportunity to tell you how appreciative we were of the manner in which we were treated by the management and players of the Colonials. In particular and by the people of Kingston generally on the occasion of our trip to your city. We shall cherish for a long time to come the memory of our game with the Colonials on Sunday, June 25."

"The hospitality of the citizenship of Kingston and the good clean sportsmanship of your own ball players had impressed us to the extent that we shall not soon forget Kingston or the Colonials. We went to your city for the purpose of giving the best we had. While we have failed to 'bring home the bacon' nevertheless we put forth our best efforts to win the game and this in itself is some consolation even in defeat. However we hope for better luck the next time, and trust that we may again have the privilege of meeting your team."

Efforts are under way to secure a Carnegie Hero Medal for Miss Mary Buchner, of St. Petersburg, Fla., who held her chum, Miss Dorothy McClatchie, afloat half an hour after the latter had been fatally bitten by a giant barracuda, known as the "tiger of the sea."

Proportionate Getting.

Once upon a time, according to Harry Emerson Fosdick, who is credited with the story, a minister and his little son walked across the fields on a summer afternoon, to a little church where the minister, a visitor, was to preach. At the door was a box for offerings, in which the visiting minister, as he arrived, placed 50 cents. The regular minister and the congregation arrived shortly after, and the service proceeded. After it, the minister of the church said to his visitor: "Now, I want you to have whatever offerings there are in the box. I don't know how much there may be." The box was opened; 50 cents was discovered, and gravely turned over to the visitor. Silence on the walk home across the fields, until the small son remarked: "Well, Dad, if you had put more in you would have got more out."

Packing Flowers to Ship.

When packing flowers for mail, all box, but be careful to avoid the slightest pressure on the blooms. Sprinkle flowers well with water and use only tissue paper to line the box. A good way to pack long-stemmed flowers is to lay them in rows at each end of the box, their stems overlapping in the center. Take a stick just a trifle longer than the inside width of the box and spring it across the center of the box pressing it well down on to the ends of the stems. This plan keeps every bloom from moving and becoming bruised or broken. Roll tissue paper around the stick. This prevents any damage being done to the stalks. Never use cotton wool except when packing very delicate hothouse specimens.

WAR ROBS THREE OF MEMOIR

Trio Among Most Unusual Cases on Record at Veterans' Bureau in Washington.

Three men who have lost themselves and whose memory does not extend back to the war where they received injury, are among the most unusual cases on record at the Veterans' bureau in Washington, D. C., among the long list of war victims. The American Legion is endeavoring to assist the unfortunate ex-service men in finding their relatives.

Hayward Thompson—at least that is what he is now called—is one of the most peculiar cases. He has forgotten who he is. In his head is an ugly shrapnel wound. His memory goes back to January 22, 1922, when he arrived at a hotel in Denver, with a bill in his pocket from one of the most expensive hotels in Colorado Springs. His memory, he now believes, lapsed somewhere, either far back in France or on the trip between Colorado Springs and Denver. Thompson remembers having had $1,200 in his pocket and access to many thousands more.

In searching Washington records for some trace of the lost man, it was found that a certain Hayward Thompson enlisted in the Marine corps June 6, 1918, and was discharged January 6, 1919. He had a wife and three children at Flemington, Mo., and a mother, Mrs. Louise Thompson, at Chicago. The man with a shrapnel wound in his head and no memory of any relatives at all, telegraphed in great eagerness to Flemington, Mo., and to Chicago. He received no answer.

Not so long ago a clean-cut young man appeared at a Los Angeles hospital. He wore an American Legion button. When questioned as to who he was he stated he did not know. "I think I am thirty-two years old," he said. "I am five feet, nine inches and weigh 180 pounds. My eyes are gray and I have blond hair. I believe I was a soldier. If any one can tell me who I am, or anything about my past, please let me know." The Los Angeles post of the Legion is making every effort to help the man find himself.

A third "unidentified living" lives at 785 North Thirty-first street, Louisville. He is known as Leonard Wells, to the neighborhood. His memory is hazy. He believes that he enlisted in the old First Kentucky infantry, and with the command was transferred to a replacement detachment and sent to France. His photograph was forwarded to his company commander, who recognized the face but did not recall a name. A machine gun bullet had pierced his abdomen and injured his spine. Another had injured the left shoulder cap. No compensation or insurance can be awarded to this man, the Veterans' bureau regrets, until his identity can be established.

France, it is said, has six of these "unidentified" lying ex-service men. Great Britain has a few. These lost souls who cannot find their memories, and who know they cannot, present a spectacle unique and pathetic. They are lost and know it.

ON "GREATEST HEROES" LIST

Sergt. Samuel Gluckman of the American "Devil Dogs" Rival for York-Woodruff Honors.

Another rival for the crown worn alternately by Sergeants York and Woodruff as the greatest hero of the World war has been uncovered by the United States veterans' bureau in the person of Sergt. Samuel Gluckman, member of the American "Devil Dogs" during the war and decorated by both the American and allied governments.

Although born in Austria, Sergeant Gluckman enlisted with the marines at the outbreak of the war and although too modest to tell the story of his achievements while fighting against the Germans, the American Legion at Washington discovered that Gluckman fought in seven major engagements, Verdun, Belleau Woods, Chateau Thierry, Marbach, St. Mihiel, Soissons and Mont Blanc.

On the morning of October 3, 1918, Sergeant Gluckman started out to get water for his comrades. He returned without the water but with 20 Germans and a painful wound. The "Devil Dog" sergeant captured a lone German and instead of bayoneting his captive forced him to lead him to the rest of the advance party. Coming onto the whole batch of 20, Sergeant Gluckman waved a hand grenade and ordered them all out of the shell hole they were occupying and into the arms of his American comrades. By executive appointment Gluckman is now employed at the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H.

Nothing in Old Theory. I have known a vast quantity of nonsense talked about bad men not looking you in the face. Don't trust that idea. Dishonesty will stare honesty out of countenance any day in the week, if there is anything to be got by it.—Dickens.

LEGION MAN, AID TO CUPID

Henry Sullivan, Phoenix (Ariz.) Organization Enthusiast, as J. P., Ties Many Knots.

Having secured plenty of experience in braving the perils of the deep while a member of the navy during the war, Henry J. Sullivan of Phoenix, Ariz., is now helping to launch the several ships of matrimony that set sail from his home city. When the service men of Phoenix start their wedding barks they seek out Justice of the Peace Sullivan to unslip the lines of their single blessedness. Mr. Sullivan is also the man who started the "Under one head, the American Legion" slogan which has been adopted by all the war organizations of his home county to advance the interests of the service men, carry on hospitalization work, eliminate drives and working generally for the benefit of the men who served their country.

As Mr. Sullivan himself expresses it: "All war organizations in the county have united under one head for the purpose of centralizing our work. We expect to lend our efforts largely to hospitalization work and in other ways serving the disabled service men by placing the responsibilities on the various departments of government where they belong rather than by advancing their rights in a slipshod fashion."

General Pershing was captured while attempting to pass through friendly territory by a group of American Legion men at Bement, Ill. The old leader of the A. E. F. started through the town on an interurban trolley car, but Legionnaires, aided by a powerful ally in the person of the motorman, gathered in front of the trolley and demanded a speech.

The rear platform of the car was turned into a speaker's stage and "Black Jack" addressed the service men and their friends for ten minutes. The Legionnaires were marshaled together by Sidney Morgan, their post commander, who stood on the platform with his old general, and it was not until he had given the word that the former members of Pershing's command would give the trolley the right of way.

Adjusted Compensation Wins.

Adjusted compensation won a decided victory in the nation-wide referendum by the United States Chamber of Commerce—4,116 chambers voted favorably, 2,657 against the measure. The United States chamber has opposed the bill from the start. The commerce body in Toledo, O., protested the questionnaire which was sent out as being unfair in the way it presented the subject.

Carrying On With the American Legion

A community playground will be made by the Legion at Nashville, Tenn., the ex-soldiers bearing the expense of apparatus and upkeep.

In Korea, American ex-soldiers, most of them missionaries under the leadership of a Southern Presbyterian mission, have formed a post of the Legion.

During the war it cost Uncle Sam $300 to clothe each of his soldiers. The present doughboy is garbed in clothing costing but $189, the War department states.

The only woman field clerk in the army is Miss Jean Hodson of San Francisco, Cal., secretary to Major General Morton. She holds the rank of sergeant major.

The Legion in both North and South will henceforth observe the birthdays of Generals Lee and Grant, rival leaders of the Civil war. The birthday of General Grant was observed on April 27 this year and that of Lee will be observed January 19, 1923.

This photograph was taken only a few hours before a mob of 5,000 striking miners attacked, captured and massacred the guards and strike breakers at the Southeastern Coal Company's mine at Hama, Ill. Superintendent McDowell (shown by arrow) is seen directing the posting of mine guards, who were overpowered and slain when tied. McDowell himself was the first man murdered after the surrender. He was a cripple and when told to run could not do so and was shot down. Only a few hours before he had wired to President William J. Leester, in Chicago: "My God! Send the troops! We can't hold the mob any longer!"

RACES INCREASED BRIDGE TRAFFIC

New Kingstonians Present Than in Many Years—Other Race-governors Stimulated Business Here—
Kingston had a larger representation at the Highland-Poughkeepsie regatta Monday afternoon than for many years. Almost every automobile owner who could spare the time to go to the races was there, and during the afternoon and early evening the city had a somewhat deserted appearance.

About 7:30 o'clock autos began returning from the races and for two hours there was a steady stream of cars crossing the Rondout Creek Bridge. The number of college and university students and graduates in Kingston resulted in college colors being displayed on many local cars, but by far the greater number of pennants was displayed on cars of visitors.

While many visitors later in the evening continued on their way to their summer homes in the Catskills and the Shawangunks, there were many who remained over night and many of them until this afternoon, occupying all available hotel accommodations.

From eight o'clock until after ten o'clock the local restaurants were filled with tourists—dinners, most of the local residents who attended the races returning to their homes for their belated but always-welcome evening meal.

STRIKING MINERS KILL WORKER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Bridgeport, O., June 27.—One man was instantly killed and another seriously injured today at Lakerty, a small mining village near here, when a group of men, supposed to be striking miners, fired upon an automobile in which half a dozen men were riding to work at the stripping mines of the Catherine Coal Company at Uniontown, according to word telephoned Coroner C. C. Hardesty, of Belmont county.

Only meager details of the shooting have reached here. An investigation is under way.

The man killed, according to the report reaching here, was John R. Major, of Fairview. The Catherine Coal Company is a Youngstown concern.

Tampico Terror.
Tampico, Mexico's great oil port, is on the Ponce river, nine miles from the Gulf of Mexico, and visitors find a choice assortment of vigorous and enterprising mosquitoes; but worse still are the myriads of flies, which exhibit uncanny intelligence. Netted doors on the oil tanks attract them in thousands, and immediately a portal is open they fly in, to scent the whereabouts of delicacies with the initiative of a prohibition officer. During rain the air is unusually damp and malarious, and in dry weather something approaching a sandstorm of the Great Sahara can be enjoyed. Americans working in the oil fields at Tampico earn liberal wages, which most of them feel they thoroughly deserve.

Words Meaning Changed.
At present soon is used to mean to glance over, but its original meaning was to examine closely. This survives in our term to scan verse. The derivation is from Latin scandere, to climb. The "d" was mistaken for the past participle "ed," hence our modern word. Among other words springing from the same source, and so related to "scan," are slander and scandal. The latter was originally the spring of a trap or the wick upon which the bait was placed. Slander which was variously spelled scandere or scandere, is only another form of scandal.

Red Always Disturbing Color.
Red has been called the king of colors. The bull is not the only creature that resents red; the elephant, the horse, the dog, the cock, are all alike in this respect. It is sufficient, for example, to cover the doors and skylights of a kennel with red material to cause incessant barking and commotion among the dogs confined therein. A spider and a wasp, confined in a glass case, are reported to have dwelt happily together until a red cloth was placed against the sides, when the insects tackled each other at once and a fight to the death ensued.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Ball Lightning.
Ball lightning, an example of which was seen in northwest London during a recent thunderstorm, is a well-attested phenomenon, occasionally seen during thunderstorms, most usually at sea. It always appears after an exceptionally vivid lightning flash, and is believed to be composed of oxygen and ozone thrown off from a negative, charged cloud. It has the appearance of a luminous sphere falling very slowly, or, when near the ground, moving horizontally, as though repelled by the earth, and finally disappearing as the result of an explosion of considerable violence.

The Drowned Iron Virgin.
The iron virgin was an instrument of torture in use during the Middle Ages. It was a hollow wooden figure, fashioned to represent a maiden of the fifteenth century, and opened like a cupboard, revealing an interior studded with sharp iron spikes. After the victim had been bound within, the lid gradually closed upon him and brought his body in contact with the spikes, which pierced him through and through. There he lingered in dread, but agony, until death relieved him from his sufferings. Rumor has the figure was a trapdoor, through which the dead body fell.

CLASS DAY, 1922, AT HIGH SCHOOL

Memor and Eloquentness Well Illustrated By Student Speakers—Trophies Presented To Athletes and Debaters.

The High School auditorium was filled to the doors on Monday evening by the many friends of the many graduates of the school, the occasion being Class Day, 1922. It was a particularly enjoyable affair inasmuch as the program was interesting and entertaining to those not initiated into the private history of the various class doings and life and of course it was doubly interesting to the high school students and graduates.

On the program the class motto was given as "Age quod agis," the class colors, orange and black, and the class flower as the "Black-Eyed Susan."

The program opened with the president's address given by Blair Muller in which he welcomed the audience and thanked them for their presence and bespoke their indulgence for the evening. He then introduced Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck who was to present the silver debating cup, on the part of the Debating Society of Rutgers College, to the successful high school debating society of the upper Hudson River cities.

Judge Hasbrouck was felicitous, as ever, in his remarks about education in our Old Colonial City and the city itself. Then the Judge told somewhat of Rutgers College and the part it has played in the history of our city and country, recalling the following names of graduates who have filled positions of importance upon the bench in congress, in banking and business circles: Augustus H. Bruyn, William S. Keenon, Jacob H. Hardenburgh, William L. Lounsbury, David Miller, DeWitt Theodore R. Westbrook, Col. Cornelius R. Westbrook, General George H. Sharpe, Charles Davis, Saugerties, and Charles F. Cantine, a roster to be proud of. The speaker then spoke of the fact that it was not because of prowess in athletics that the class had won the trophy from Rutgers College but because of success in the use of their minds, in the art of matching mind with mind, one of the very greatest of human attainments, which carried to its greatest heights was the culmination of statesmanship, making masters of men, and therefore masters of destiny. Judge Hasbrouck then presented the silver cup to Arthur S. Fleming, in behalf of the Webster-Haynes Debating Society.

Mr. Fleming was the next speaker, appearing on the program as the "Class Orator." Mr. Fleming's oration was a brief but exceedingly interesting resume of the great Webster-Haynes debates on "Annulment," in which he paid just and splendid tribute to the memory of the great patriot as well as orator, Daniel Webster. In closing Mr. Fleming offered a stirring plea for statesmanship rather than politics as the aim of the oncoming American manhood.

The class elocutionist was Miss Margaret Rodie who held the close attention and greatly amused her audience with a recitation of the troubles of William who essayed to be the host at a tea-party under most adverse circumstances.

Carl D. Schantz gave the "Address to the Faculty," in which he paid high tribute to the memory of Miss Turner, expressed the full gratitude and appreciation of the class to their patient, inspiring instructors and struck many a balance between teachers and taught that might be necessary in a pleasing manner.

Very clever was the "Class History," given by Miss Katherine Dean, who told of the life of the class of 1922 in a parody on Longfellow's "Hiawatha," that delighted her hearers.

Full of friendly humor, good-natured sarcasm and friendly thrusts was the address of the class critic, Richard O. Gruver, who called forth much laughter on the part of associates and audience.

Miss Florence A. Henry proved herself quite worthy of her task as class poet, gracefully presenting the ideals of the class and its loving thought of Miss Turner in attractive verse.

The class prophecy was given in quite an original manner by Miss Ethel Schwab, who in gipsy garb with her shining "ball of fate," forecast the class future to one of its members who "paid the price," by sufficiently "crossing her palm" with demanded silver. The prophecies were clever, amusing, with promise of success or failure and altogether entertaining.

Thomas Rowland was the sage of the class of 1922, giving portentous experienced "Advice to the Juniors," in a most dignified manner. The junior response was given by Kenneth Le Fevre who was greeted with applause as he stepped on the rostrum to take the dose administered by the seniors, and to induce in a few good-natured "come-backs," appreciation of the departing class and promises of future achievement on the part of the class of 1922.

There was a second "presentation" on the program, that of two silver trophies in the shape of silver baseball cups, made by John W. Eckert. One cup was a permanent trophy from the Central Hudson League for three years' championship; the other a one year's holding of a cup that must be won again and again to remain at Kingston High School. Mr. Eckert was very congratulatory in his remarks to the class not only because of their athletic successes but upon all of their achievements.

To Miss Anne Bryne fell the lot of the "Class Legacy," which was a very considerable task, with so many legacies of her bounty, yet the bequest to each class member was decidedly "pat," often funny, and always graciously accepted.

Chicken in Thousands.
What is said to be the first complete carload of live poultry to reach Kingston has arrived here from Missouri, consigned to the Kingston Live Poultry Market, 35 Ann street. The shipment consists of between 7,000 and 8,000 fowls, mostly chickens.

HEBERT GIVES FANS RADIO'S HISTORY

Guests of Y. M. C. A. Radio Club Also Listen to Marconi, Speaking from Schenectady.

A large group of radio fans met with the Kingston Y. M. C. A. at its rooms Monday evening. A. A. Hebert, treasurer of the American Radio Relay League, was the guest of the evening.

Mr. Hebert has been interested in radio for many years, and has become recognized as a leading amateur authority on the subject. His talk was on the growth of the radio during the past ten and twelve years.

He spoke very interestingly of experiences that our government had during the late war; of how much of the work of the American amateur was responsible for the perfection of our overseas radio service. As a result of the service the American amateur radio fans, during the war, the English have practically released to their people the use of radio service. Heretofore, England had regarded radio as a government monopoly and had conducted it as such.

In closing Mr. Hebert declared that he felt sure that the code work of the radio would never be displaced by radiophones that is appealing to everybody at the present time.

The set belonging to the Boys' Division of the Y. M. C. A. was in operation during the evening, and many had the pleasure of listening to Signor Marconi, and hear his talk on wireless which was broadcast from Schenectady.

These talks are a part of the program of the Wireless Club of the Kingston Y. M. C. A. which is one of the features of the Boys' Division. It is the plan of Boys' Secretary Hall to have several of these talks during the summer. The next will be a demonstration of a 12 tube, super heterodyne set, by Albert Bachelet, of New York city. Mr. Bachelet is the son of Mr. Bachelet of the Bachelet Medical Appliance Company.

BARNES URGES FUEL COMMITTEES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, June 27.—Chambers of commerce all over the United States were urged to appoint "fuel committees," to prevent a "run away" coal-market and price gouging during the present strike.

Formation of the committee was urged in a general letter to the chambers by Julius H. Barnes, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

C. Ernst of Stillwater, Minn. Dr. Ernst has just completed a five months' tour of the district.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

The money was being taken to the International Handkerchief Company, for its weekly payroll.

IRREGULARS HOLD FREE STATER AS HOSTAGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, June 27.—Irregulars in the Irish Republican army have captured General O'Connell, whom they are holding as a hostage for the safety of arrested Republican officers, said a Dublin despatch to the Evening News today. O'Connell is one of the chief commandants of the Free State army.

Volume of Sound Important.

GOOD HUNTING FOR SHARKS

Unfortunate School of Porpoises Helpless in the Power of Their Inveterate Enemies.

Passengers on the Scandina was liner, Frederick VIII, which arrived at New York a few days ago, told a remarkable tale of a grim battle between occupants of the deep, while off the Grand banks of Newfoundland. The ship was proceeding swiftly in good weather about dawn when the lookout sighted a large school of porpoises ahead.

Instead of proceeding as usual in one direction in orderly fashion, describing an occasional graceful arc in the air, the fish plunged madly in all directions, leaping straight in the air and lashing the water to foam. As they became aware of the presence of the ship they quickly gathered closely about it, as though for protection, swimming rapidly alongside to keep pace with it.

Their number was estimated at 200, the largest school any of the crew had ever seen.

Suddenly a number of huge black shadows were noted stealing up on the school from behind. The sinister dorsal fin occasionally appearing above the water proclaimed them to be sharks. They gulped steadily and finally plunged among the porpoises. Instantly the terror of the latter again became apparent as they strove madly to escape in all directions.

In their confusion they dived wildly against the side of the ship. Some were struck by the on-rushing bow. Others were drawn into propellers. Meanwhile the sharks continued a methodical campaign of extermination. One after another of the frantic porpoises was ripped by the teeth of the pursuing monsters, and left to be consumed later at leisure.

The fight continued until half the school had been killed, when the sharks abandoned the chase.

For an hour after, the porpoises clung to the ship. At last, deciding the danger had passed, they swam off on a course at right angles and disappeared.

Giving Up the Game.

Twenty thousand people committed suicide last year in the United States, which fact seems to be a reflection upon our well-ordered life, writes William Allen White in Judge. It would seem that the great panorama which history is unfolding before us day by day, forever beckoning with its tomorrows and luring us with big events just around the corner from today—it would seem that that gripping panorama ought to hold us all in our seats upon this planet. We may be hungry, we may be forsaken, we may be cold, sick, unloved and unloving, and yet it would seem that the daily story of life about us, the great tragic events that are looming before us in Europe and in Asia, and the great comedy that should cramp our sides with anguished laughter here in America, should hold us tightly upon this planet. Yet 20,000 of us have voluntarily got up and walked out, left the show cold and flat and for what? Perhaps they are going to the big show, perhaps they are only going to bed. But they are missing a mighty good thing, nevertheless. The spinning world never before has held so much to charm the eye and engross the soul as it holds today.

Hospital for Plants.

A hospital for plants is the latest device, designed by an ingenious Englishman, for the aid and comfort of lovers of flowers, who are often distressed at sight of their favorite plants ailing and dying from maladies for which they know no cure. When a sick plant is brought to the hospital, it is immediately examined and sent to the room prepared for its case. If it is suffering from a cold it is tended with heat; if it has become anaemic from an excess of solar rays, it goes through a freezing treatment. The unwholesome branches are removed, while those that are anaemic are fed. It seems that certain plants are very nervous. Some easily get neurasthenic, while their neighbors show undeniable symptoms of hysteria. But special managements permit the application to each of them of the treatment it requires.

Danger of Sunset.

The death at Funchal of the ex-Emperor Charles who succumbed to broncho-pneumonia, caused great astonishment, for it was supposed that in the warm atmosphere of Madeira people did not die from such affections, but were cured of them.

The action of the sun is, however, not uniformly beneficent, and many physicians distrust its last rays when it is disappearing on the horizon. It is well known that in warm countries people provide against the sudden lowering of the temperature which then occurs.

Thus, in all churches in Rome they sing the Angelus an hour before sunset to warn all those outdoors to take the necessary precautions.

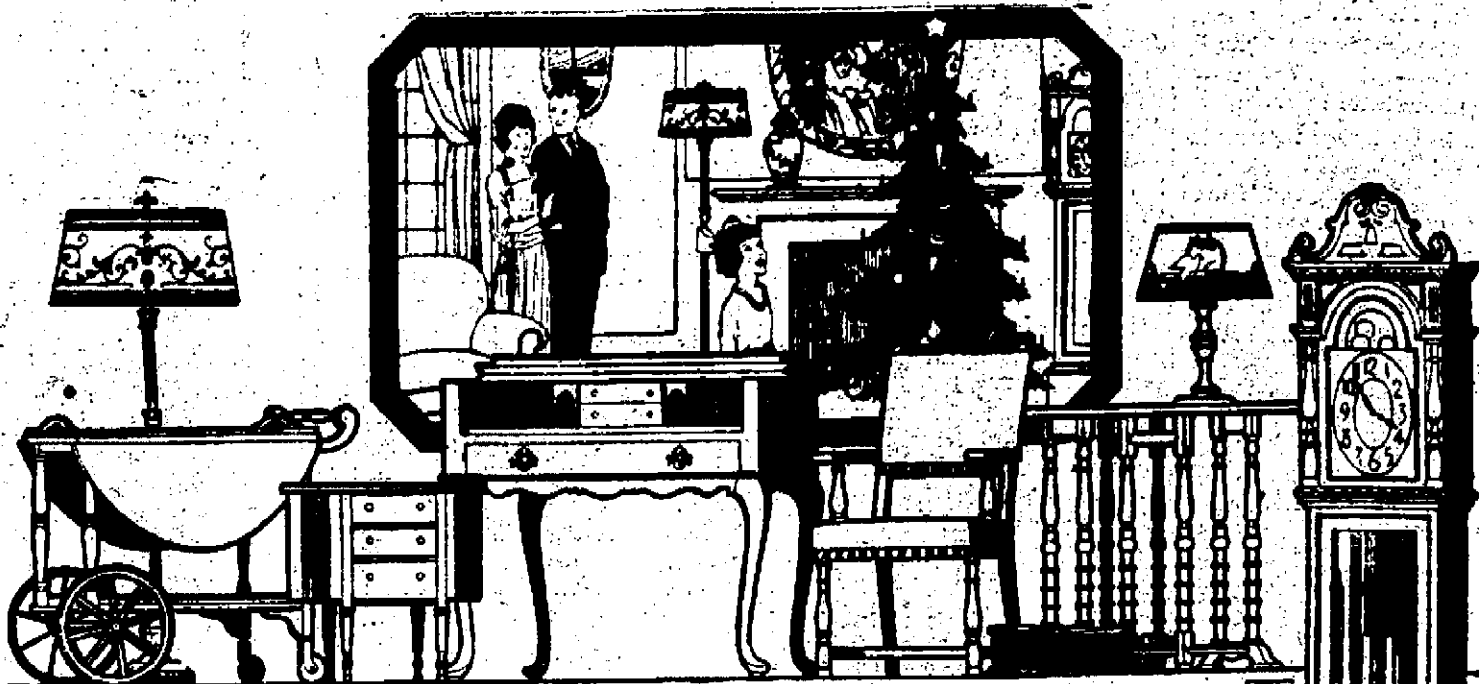

Life-Saving Watercycle.

A watercycle has been invented by a Wisconsin man which can be used for life-saving purposes or as a pleasure craft for bathers. The frame is made of aluminum tubing and is of knockdown construction, held together by thumb screws. Buoyancy is supplied by two air-inflated tubes, in halloon cloth cases, which slip over the side tubes of the frame. The watercycle is forced through the water by a gear-driven propeller which is operated by bicycle pedals, the machine being steered by a rudder and handlebar.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

KNEW ALL ABOUT "LA GRIPPE"

People of the Eighteenth Century Suffered From Its Attacks as Do Those of Today.

Amid all our sufferings from the "grip," "Russian influenza," "blitz katarrh," "Spanish influenza," "flu," et id omne genus, the name and writings of Sebastian Mercier are too much forgotten. In his picturesque "Tableau de Paris" is to be found the following passage on the "grippe," written in 1787, which might have been written today:

"Almost every year toward the middle of November occur catarrhal indispositions caused by the presence of a humid and cold atmosphere and fogs which suppress transpiration. Many die of it, but the Parisians, who laugh at everything, call these colds the 'grippe,' the 'drip,' but the laughter three days later is himself 'gripped' by it and goes down to the grave. "Passing from old rooms and theater halls to the open air makes this suppression of the transpiration almost unavoidable. The new fashion of wearing long cloaks is excellent. It gives protection against the cold. Taking good exercise is even a surer remedy. The women who are compelled to wait some time for their carriages—those charming, delicate women I see shivering along the staircases and porticoes—should consider that their pelisses are not sufficient to protect them against mishaps. "What would he have said to the abbreviated skirts of today?"

Radio in Yosemite.

Yosemite's granite cliffs rise straight into the air for 3,400, 4,000 and occasionally 5,000 feet. Yosemite valley is literally a "hole in the ground," and some wireless experts declared local conditions were entirely against successful operation of a wireless station there. Nevertheless, valley folk recently have been getting news reports, weather predictions, market quotations and lots of good music right out of the air, with no other aerial than wires strung between two of the giant trees with which the valley floor is forested.

Edwin J. Symmes, of Alameda, put in the first wireless set for his own amusement and has received messages from several score damped and undamped wave stations, including Honolulu and Catalina island. Government authorities also have put in a station, which will be used to keep in touch with the outside world.

Changes in the Pleiades.

The question presents itself whether three stars of the constellation of the Pleiades have less brilliancy than formerly, or whether prehistoric man had a better sight than ours, or if he was wont to climb up the mountains to examine the nearest stars, or if the atmosphere of past ages was purer than ours? This problem arises from the fact that we see from below only seven of the stars of the Pleiades, and that the last three stars can only be seen by ascending to the highest summits, while there have just been discovered stones dating from prehistoric times upon which the ten stars are engraved. This interesting question in astronomy and archeology has been broached to the French Academy of Sciences by M. Bigourdan.

Telephone Improvement.

Considerable progress has been made in the development of telephonic hearing aids for the partly deaf, but the limit had apparently been reached along this line until the new vacuum tube amplifier described in the Popular Mechanics Magazine was produced. This tube, the result of the efforts of many inventors, consists primarily of a small electric bulb having within it a filament, a spiral wire called a grid, and a metallic plate, all in the order named.

Gorgetts.
How many staff officers wearing red tabs know that the correct name for their tabs is "gorgetts"? Gorgetts were worn centuries ago, when warriors were clad in shining armor. The original gorget was a breastplate. Then followed a small plate like an escutcheon, worn round the neck. This developed into the gorget now worn by staff officers on the collar.

SUPREME COURT RESUMES TRIALS

Motion For New Trial in Mrs. Estabrook's Action—Decision Reserved in Glenn Matter—West Saugerties Title in Dispute.

Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Nichols returned to Kingston Monday afternoon and opened the adjourned May term of the supreme court. The first matter taken up was the motion made by Robert W. Fischer and Hon. Roscoe Irwin, counsel for Mrs. Eleanor Estabrook in the action brought by her to recover $30,000 from the William M. Crane Company, manufacturers of the Vulcan Gas Heater, because of the injuries sustained by her in being badly burned in February 1921, by reason of what she claimed to be the defective construction of a heater which she had purchased from the Kingston Gas & Electric Company, one of the distributing agents of the Crane Company. The case was tried before Judge Nichols and a jury at the May term, the case occupying three days, and resulting in a verdict for the Crane Company. Messrs. Fischer and Irwin moved on Monday to set aside the verdict and for a new trial upon the grounds of errors they alleged to have been committed by Judge Nichols in the admission of certain evidence against their objections.

Judge A. T. Clearwater who represented the company, opposed the motion upon the grounds that the judge's rulings were in precise accord with the law regulating cases of that character. Judge Nichols gave Mrs. Estabrook's counsel twenty days from the time they received the stenographer's minutes in which to serve their brief on the motion; he gave to the counsel for the company twenty days in which to answer with fifteen days to Mrs. Estabrook's counsel to make a reply.

On account of the illness of John E. Mack, counsel for defendants, several cases in which A. D. & A. W. Lent appeared for plaintiffs were put over the term. None of Mr. Lent's cases were tried.

An equity action brought by Gaylord Glenn, et al., against William L. Howard was taken up for trial and after the testimony decision was reserved. D. W. Ostrander appeared for plaintiff and Adolph Herzog of New York for defendant. Plaintiff claimed that certain lands purchased do not contain the amount of lands named in the deed and seeks to have the error corrected.

This morning an action brought by Eihau Yager against Florence Bedell and another was taken up for trial by the court. Grant M. Brinier with Judge John G. Van Etten appears for the plaintiff and William N. Fessenden and Judge Jenkins for defendants. The action involves the question of title to a parcel of land in West Saugerties. Plaintiff claims that a parcel of land purchased in 1888 and deeded to his mother was taken by his mother with the understanding that she would deed the land to him when he so requested. Since the land has been sold to another and he seeks to recover from the purchaser who holds a deed dated 1920.

NEW CAPPER-TINCHER

BILL PASSES HOUSE

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, June 27.—The new Capper-Tincher "anti-grain gambling" bill, designed to prevent manipulation of grain prices by regulating trading in futures, was passed by the house this afternoon. The vote was 208 to 76.

The first Capper-Tincher act was declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court, but the new measure is declared by its sponsors to meet the objections raised by the court.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 27.—The stock market showed an irregular tone at the start today. Mexican Petroleum started five points higher at 200 and then fell to 197, while Pan American Petroleum showed a loss of 1 point at 85. Studebaker showed a gain of 1/4 at 129 and United Retail stores rose 1/4 to 67 1/4. Sinclair Oil yielded 3/4 to 31 1/4. New York Central started 1/4 lower at 95 1/4 and then rose to 96. U. S. Steel showed a gain of 1/4 at 99.

The professional element was a seller generally from the opening and the supply from that source was sufficient to cause declines in everything traded in. Mexican Petroleum was an exception, after opening at 200, an advance of five points and then yielding to 191, rose to 193 1/4, followed by another decline. Pan American Petroleum issues both showed losses after the early trade. General Asphalt yielded 2 1/4 to 64.

Pressure was increased again in many stocks in the afternoon and offerings at declines found little demand, evening at sharp concessions from previously prevailing prices. The market closed unsettled; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds irregular.
